Tackling drugs will be police's new priority

POLICE will be clamping down on drug-related crime over the next three months in Haverhill.

Tackling drug-taking and dealing openly in public and gathering intelligence on "drug-fuelled" assaults were two of the priorities voted in at the Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting on Monday.

For months, Inspector Peter Ferrie, policing commander for Haverhill, had urged the public to elect an issue the police can tackle instead of focusing on illegal parking in the High Street.

He and SNT sergeant Gary Miller put forward their own suggestions to the public on what should be a police focus – and one of their recommendations was voted in.

Sgt Miller said there had been a rise in shoplifting in the town centre and thefts of motorcycles, while Inspector Ferrie said that the SNT focusing on "violence related to drug debts" might help to "crack the problem".

He said: "We have had people hurt over the last two or three weeks. They are buying drugs on credit and when the drug dealers come for the money they can't pay, so they are getting physically assaulted by the dealers."

Drug-taking in the town's recreation ground was raised by a member of the public – who said she saw a group of eight youths smoking cannabis in the park area. Two men regularly walk by her home smoking cannabis too, she said.

Inspector Ferrie said: "If I could direct my police officers to the recreation ground to sort out druggies instead of handing out parking tickets I would do it 100 times out of 100."

Tackling drug-taking and dealing received 37 votes, Inspector Ferrie's suggestion on gathering intelligence on drug-related assaults on the Clements and Chalkstone Estates got 25 votes, and parking issues in Crowland Road, Hollands Road and outside schools in Haverhill generally, especially Samuel Ward, got 15 votes.

Twenty-one people voted via the meeting's live stream.

Drug crime is one of the only recorded crimes in the town to be on the increase, compared with the three-year average.

Since April 1 last year, 99 drug offences have been recorded as opposed to the three-year average of 60 for this time of year. This is because more work is being done in detecting and dealing with this type of crime, said Inspector Ferrie.

The next SNT meeting will take place on June 16, at the Arts Centre, from 7pm.

Live Well Suffolk helping with stop smoking service

ON HAND: Barbara Gillich and Louise Parnell from Live Well Suffolk at Haverhill market square.

HALF a dozen people took the first step towards quitting smoking after an event in Haverhill.

A team of stop smoking advisors visited the town's Market Square on Friday to encourage residents to kick the habit. Six people were referred to free stop smoking services, either at local pharmacies or Live Well Suffolk, to start their journey.

Henry Tapp, pharmacy development manager at Live Well Suffolk, said: "The county has a stop smoking service, and we are always here to help and support people."

On the day, the advisors showed smokers 'tar jars' - jars filled with the amount of tar a 10-a-day smoker would accumulate over a year.

National No Smoking Day took place yesterday.

Flats WILL be built behind cottages

THE future of two historic cottages has been uncertain for months - but now the final hurdle has been passed for them to be rescued.

The cottages, at 85 and 87 High Street, Haverhill, were sold at auction in December for £51,000 - but work could not be confirmed until the outcome of a planning application from Havebury Housing Partnership.

On March 6, plans to build four flats to the rear of the cottages were approved by St Edmundsbury's Borough Council's Development Control Committee, 14 to one.

Havebury originally entered an application to demolish the cottages and create six flats on the site - but when this was met with strong opposition from residents and councillors alike, the housing provider consulted with residents and came up with a fresh plan, including the existing buildings.

The buyer of the cottages, known only as a "local" person, will now officially become the owner and can continue with the intention to renovate the properties and put them back on the housing market.

Havebury has 18 months to progress with building the new flats. Cllr Tony Brown, county councillor and newly-elected borough councillor, has been one of those fighting for the cottages' future from the start.

He said: "Once we see them restored that will truly be the final hurdle. "This will be the next chapter in the fight for the cottages, and we are looking forward to them being renovated and seeing what that end of the High Street will look like."

"Now that CXG has taken over the old White Hart pub it's really tidying up - at one time it was looking very unkempt."

Paul Edwards, Director of Resources at Havebury Housing Partnership spoke at the meeting on the positives of the plans.

There will be four, one bedroom flats and the existing garage and outbuildings on the site will be knocked down.

It is hoped the new development will help in providing the town with much-needed affordable housing.

Mr Edwards said: "Havebury is delighted to have finally received planning permission to proceed with our development of four new affordable homes just off the High Street in Haverhill and look forward to liaising with the new owner of the cottages as he starts work on restoring them."

"We're really pleased that we have been able to work with members of the local community to reach a mutually agreeable outcome for the site and we hope this can continue as we seek to provide further affordable housing in the area."

Screwfix confirms interest in setting up a new shop

A NATIONAL hardware supplier is looking at opening a branch in Haverhill.

Jobs, including branch manager, customer service supervisor and service assistant, are being advertised through Screwfix's website.

A spokeswoman for the company confirmed they are looking - but where and when the store will open has not been decided.

She said: "We can confirm that Screwfix is currently looking to open a new store in Haverhill. The final timings are still to be confirmed."

There are six jobs being advertised in total.

New victim care centre to be opened at station

VICTIMS of crime will be able to get support from a new centre opening in Haverhill.

Next week, a victim care centre will be opened at the town's police station by Tim Passmore, Suffolk police and crime commissioner, and Gareth Wilson, assistant chief constable for local policing in Norfolk. PC Will Wright, who has been in Haverhill for almost eight years, has been appointed as domestic abuse and vulnerable victims officer.

Inspector Peter Ferrie said: "This is a new development for the police and partners in Haverhill. I'm hoping it will greatly increase the support we are able to offer to victims in the town."

The opening is on Monday

'What would you have done if you had hit me?'

SCHOOLCHILDREN questioned motorists on their behaviour after joining police officers in carrying out speed checks.

Pupils from Coupals Primary School lined Wrattling Road, in Haverhill, on Friday and spoke with seven drivers who were caught travelling over the 30mph limit.

Those stopped were given the choice of three points, attending a speed awareness course, or speaking to the children.

PCSO Mark Isaac said:

"Unsurprisingly they all chose to speak with the children, however a few of them, I think, were left to regret it as the children began to ask them things like 'what would you have done if you hit me?' and 'why are you speeding and putting our lives at risk?'"

The motorists were "hanging their heads in shame" after being questioned by the youngsters – and one woman had tears in her eyes when being asked about the experience afterwards, PCSO Isaac said.

"With the children supporting us I think it really drove home the road safety message that this road is a 30mph for many reasons."

"We were highlighting one of the most influential factors, in that there are four schools very close by," he said.

Speeding on Haverhill's main routes was one of the Safer Neighbourhood Team priorities, as voted for by the public at the last meeting in December. New ones were chosen on Monday.

Still no news on tenant for vacant Co-op premises

A NEW tenant for an empty retail unit has still not been decided – despite rumours on who could be taking over.

There has been "considerable interest" in the Co-op store on Jubilee Walk, which has been empty since 2011.

But the company has confirmed that despite this interest, and a recent rumour that a pound-type shop could become the new occupier, no one has signed on the dotted line yet.

As previously reported, the company has been in discussions with a national operator interested in acquiring the site, as well as a number of other interested parties including Morrisons.

The supermarket chain reportedly pulled out over a lack of free parking. There is a car park nearby owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

A spokesperson for The Co-operative Estates said: "Whilst there has been considerable interest in the premises, we are yet to agree terms with a prospective tenant."

"We will continue to pursue all avenues of enquiry in a bid to achieve the most positive outcome for residents and shoppers in Haverhill."

Illegal parking: 600 people fined

MORE than 600 parking tickets have been handed out to motorists in Haverhill High Street over the last six months.

The revelation came at Monday's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting, in which the previous policing priorities for the town were reviewed.

The priorities, as voted for in December by the public, were illegal parking in the High Street, speeding on the town's main routes and clamping down on cyclists without lights.

SNT sergeant Gary Miller told the meeting that 405 fixed penalty notices have been handed out to drivers for parking illegally in the last three months. More than 600 tickets have been given over the last six months.

Inspector Ferrie said that ticketing drivers parking illegally in the High Street would continue, regardless of whether or not it was a priority – but Cllr Roger André, town mayor, said not enough had been done to convince residents it was being taken seriously.

"You have just said yourself that you will continue to do exactly what you are doing if it is not a priority – don't vote for this as a priority again because we will be ignored again," he said.

Cllr Gordon Cox asked how many hours were allocated daily to patrolling the High Street, but Inspector Ferrie said there are no fixed timings.

PCSO Kayla Packman said she spent about an hour a day on the High Street giving out between seven and 10 tickets.

Inspector Ferrie said: "We should be dealing with more important things, but I have put pressure on [Sgt Miller] and [Sgt Miller] has put pressure on his officers to do something about it."

During the last quarter, 22 separate speed checks were carried out with 23 verbal warnings issued to drivers, four fixed penalty notices handed out for excess speed and seven people placed on speed awareness courses.

Thirty-one warnings were also handed out to cyclists for riding without lights, and three fixed penalty notices were given out to repeat offenders.

Cyclists were given vouchers to buy lights, paid for by the St Edmundsbury Community Safety Partnership, at a local store.

Residents avoid bogus police bank scam

A SCAM carried out by people posing as police officers has reached Haverhill.

Three residents reported receiving calls yesterday which said that their bank accounts had been cloned and further information was required.

The man speaking on the phone claimed to be a police officer in Hammersmith.

All three people hung up the phone, waited for the line to clear and called Suffolk Police.

Alan Osborne, community safety manager, said: "The police or banks will never ask for people's bank account details over the phone and should anyone receive this type of call they should hang up immediately."

Still time to sign up for Sport Relief mile

RUNNERS, walkers and joggers are being encouraged to take part in Sport Relief.

Haverhill is having its own event, with a choice of one, three or six mile routes, organised by the town's running club and Castle Manor Academy.

Residents have shown their support for the charity run already – but there is still time left to sign up.

Nick Kirkham, of Haverhill Running Club, said: "We are delighted that so many people have already signed up but we want even more people from Haverhill to take part and make it the best Sainsbury's Sport Relief Mile yet."

"So sign up, join in and let's raise as much money as we possibly can for this incredible cause."

The Haverhill Mile is taking place at Castle Manor Academy's playing fields on March 23 from 11am.

Andrew Barratt, team leader for PE at Castle Manor, said: "We have a huge amount of staff and students waiting to run, walk, entertain or help make the event run smoothly."

Get ready for town's first races

TRAINING TIME: Jack Tappin, race director, and Lee Button.

PARTICIPANTS in Haverhill's first half marathon and 10k can sign up for special training packages.

Real Bodies Health and Fitness, on Hollands Road, has sponsored the inaugural Haverhalf and Haver10 races – taking place on May 11.

Now, special membership packages, including a training programme, are on offer.

Lee Button, gym manager, said: "It's the first time something like this has come to the town and I think there will be a big uptake and a lot of newcomers and it will be good for us to promote it."

The joining fee is £17.99, with gym-only membership, then £20 for one month, £30 for two and £40 for three.

Use of gym and classes is an additional £5 per month, and if picking a full membership package members can get 40 per cent off their first three months.

All of those packages include entry into either Haverhalf or Haver10.

Consultation up on traffic order

CONSULTATION on a proposed traffic order affecting Haverhill town centre has officially ended.

Residents were asked by Suffolk County Council to share their views on the possibility of making part of Camps Road one way, as well as changing the bottom of Mill Road to one way south-bound, rather than north-bound.

The survey launched online last month and asked if people supported reducing High Street traffic, agreed with the proposed order, and had any concerns about the proposal.

Residents and business owners in the surrounding area were also written to. Consultation closed on March 7.

The plan has attracted both support and criticism so far – with some people angry that traffic could be directed up residential streets.

Concerns about the order were also raised at Monday's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting.

One resident asked police officers why other streets in Haverhill could not be monitored by police if the order is supposed to cut traffic in the High Street by 60 per cent.

She said: "Why is the High Street being prioritised over the small residential areas, and does the SNT think that [the order] is going to make our streets suffer?"

Cllr Anne Gower, for St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council, said that the consultation was launched due to concerns that she and fellow county councillors had.

The main issue is that people were not consulted in the first instance, she added.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Gower said: "If an experimental traffic order is put in they have got no comfort of knowing that if it doesn't work it will be lifted."

"We are fighting very hard to make sure this happens, if it does go ahead. I am hoping it won't go ahead due to the wealth of opinion against it."

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council confirmed that officers are analysing responses gathered during the consultation and the cabinet member for roads and transport will determine the next steps.

Parents reassured after 'misunderstanding'

POLICE are reassuring parents after a child was reportedly beckoned into a car by a male driver last week.

Coups Primary School issued a Parentmail message on Monday warning parents to be vigilant in dropping off and collecting their children after a boy was beckoned towards a car while walking home with a friend and their parents.

But according to police, the driver was believed to be indicating to the boy to cross the road in front of the car.

A spokesman for Suffolk Police said: "Police received a call on the afternoon of Friday, March 7, from a parent reporting that a man had tried to beckon a young boy into his car and the school was also in touch reporting the same incident."

"The next day officers spoke with the boy's parent and following this conversation it is believed that the man was simply indicating to the boy to pass in front of the car."

The spokesman also confirmed that they would carry out reassurance patrols in the area.

David Maguire, deputy head teacher, said the Parent Mail was written on Friday, immediately after the incident. He said: "We are happy and relieved that all of our children are safe, and that there's obviously just been a misunderstanding."

Yes, big dogs always get the blame

I AGREE with Mr Dickson that big dogs always get the blame (last week's Weekly News.)

As an owner of a German shepherd and a rottweiler, many times when walking the dogs on their leads around the newt pond area we come across a lot of people with little dogs (mainly Jack Russells) off their leads, which come up to our dogs growling and barking and having a go.

If our dogs were to do this it would be a different story.

We also get a lot of people pick their dogs up as if to say our dogs are nasty and as they walk past us their dogs are barking and growling at ours.

When three tribes go to war (on the High Street)

NOW I know it's getting harder for Haverhill Town Council to fill the market trader pitches it rents out in the High Street on a Saturday, but is it really a must for the 'Three Tribes' that make up the majority of the Town Council's political party benches to each pitch up their own colour-coded wigwams in search of residents' signatures (supported by full names, addresses, telephone contacts and email addresses)?

Presumably it was all necessary so the local tribal party secretaries could copy off each signatory detail gleaned from the process, before despatching them to their political party headquarters for use in future propaganda campaigns. Then after eventually sending them off to Bury St Edmunds BC via their own trusted despatch riders the three tribes concerned could wait the long wait while their hefty despatches were collated by Borough Council braves and squaws, into a single bundle document that when put together pretty much demanded the very same thing: 'Money back from the members sitting at Bury St Edmunds Borough Council'. Surely if these locally elected warriors were to present a united front, then the council chiefs at St Edmundsbury Borough Council could be shamed into surrender, faced as they most certainly would be by a more heavyweight and worthy petition of Haverhill townspeople names, screaming out a demand for the instant return of the money the town is undoubtedly owed.

Can these tribesmen and their leaders not see that by circling the wagons and presenting a united council they could do so much more to aid the cause they speak off?

Talking of which; where was 'Big Chief Sitting Bull' when you need him?

Town Clerk Will Austin may be planning resettlement in the far west, but should he not have been out on the streets one last time explaining the reasons for the lost gold and pointing a way forward to the townspeople he will be leaving behind?

Come to think about it where was Arts Centre Manager Nick Keeble as well? Is it not Nick's job to plan and attend the really important events? Is it not Nick's department who will benefit most from the return of the allegedly stolen gold bullion, said to be held deep in the vaults of St Edmundsbury Borough Council? Would it not have helped the cause greatly if Nick had appeared on the streets, demanding the support of the people for this worthy petition? Alas NO! Stuck between a night with the legendary Barron Knights and the opportunity to engage with Mr Marmite himself (Michael Portillo), it appears both these town hall big chiefs were either completely disinterested in the name-gathering exercise or were simply too exhausted from their nicely pensioned jobs to work tirelessly anymore. Or perhaps they just did not fancy getting down dirty in the fight for survival of a Town Hall Arts Centre that is most assuredly threatened with a slow torturous death, if these and other similar type cuts are allowed to continue and fester.

The title of the talk "My life as a woman butcher" seemed incongruous with the soft spoken demeanour of our speaker, Rosemary Wheeler.

Rosemary recalled accompanying her father to Bury St Edmunds, before WW2, seeing cattle led through the streets from the railway station to the market where he carefully selected an animal for slaughter and sale as meat in the Lavenham butchers shop established by his father.

The local abattoir was replacing the ancient brutal pole-axe with humane stun-gun equipment capable of processing 10 bullocks or 100 lambs per hour. Rosemary learned to use a scud to remove the bristles on pig carcasses, before hanging them on "straight S-hooks", and cleaving down to separate the meat from bone.

WOMEN from Haverhill's Royal British Legion have celebrated the 85th birthday of their branch.

Members from Haverhill, Kedington and Clare groups came together for an anniversary lunch at Haverhill Bowls Club, with food provided by Chippy's takeaway.

The guest of honour was Pat Scott, chairman of Suffolk's Royal British Legion, and the anniversary cake was cut by Mary Sare, president of the Haverhill branch.

shelved as father and later brother were called for military service, leaving Rosemary in charge of not only the shop but deliveries by bicycle as well! She recounts the rationing of meat, not by weight, as were butter and sugar, but by cost of 10d (old pence) per person per week. With steak costing 1/6d per pound, the demand was for cheap cuts and sausages and offal, curiously not rationed until 1942. The hand-operated sausage machine was eventually replaced with an electric one, but saw good service to process the meagre allocation of meat by the Ministry of Food. Rosemary continued working in the business until the age of 22, when she studied accountancy and was also able to spend time playing her piano as a semi-professional. Rosemary's interesting talk, describing the use of hand tools used by many butchers, brought back pleasant memories of the time when the butcher's shop was a key feature in every High Street.

The AGM will be on 25 March at the Haverhill Arts Centre at 10.30 followed by a talk by Jane Ballard of the Citizen's Advice Bureau.

Teaching assistant publishes first novel

A NEW adult novel based in Cambridge has been penned by a former Haverhill worker.

Amanda Walters, who worked at Castle Hill Middle School, has set her story, a romance between a mum and a professor, in and around Cambridge.

An Acute Attraction follows the life of Isabel Chambers, a single mum in need of "me" time. After checking herself into a hotel she meets Marc Sanders, a Harvard Professor visiting Cambridge University, who has a secret.

Amanda said: "There are so many women out there that can be represented in books as well as the slim, innocent and beautiful types. Don't get me wrong I love reading books with them in, but there is so many of them around now I felt it is time for something different."

"I'd like to think I brought my sense of humour across in it as well. I am ditsy, I suffer from 'foot in mouth' syndrome, but I can also be serious and sentimental."

Amanda, who writes under the name A.J. Walters, now lives in Staffordshire.

Three Counties Way – welcome to Haverhill

DEBRA FOX

A PUPIL from a Haverhill academy has made history with a creative road name suggestion.

Loren Taylor, from Castle Manor Academy, entered a school-wide competition to name the main estate road into Haverhill Research Park.

The 12-year-old suggested Three Counties Way, and said: "The road is where the three counties, Suffolk, Essex, and Cambridgeshire meet."

"It is important that we have a connection with the people of the surrounding counties because it creates more job opportunities."

On Monday, the road sign was unveiled by Loren, who then enjoyed a tour of the site with her classmates.

Loren was selected as the winner by the Weekly News, Cllr Karen Richardson, Matthew Gibson, head of school at Castle Manor Academy, and Nic Rumsey of Carisbrooke Developments, and received a Kindle for her prize in January.

The youngster was praised for her creativity, as well as taking into account the history of the town and the geography of the research park's location.

Helen Chaplin, of Haverhill Research Park, said: "Today is a special one for Loren."

"There can't be many young people who are responsible for naming a road which could remain in place for hundreds of years – she's responsible for creating a bit of history in Haverhill and we are delighted to give her the opportunity to unveil the new road sign.

"It is also a milestone for the park as preparations for full-scale marketing of the park gather pace."

Also on Monday Kate Lawes, of Samuel Ward, handed over a time capsule for burial on the research park site.

Students at Samuel Ward were tasked with creating a capsule, filled with five items, to tell future generations about Haverhill life.

Kate based her items around touch, sound, sight, smell and taste and chose items to represent Haverhill Arts Centre, Churchill Free School, the Family Christmas Weekend, flowers on the High Street and Haverhill Foodbank.

Mrs Chaplin added: "Should the capsule be dug up sometime in the future it will provide a fascinating piece of archaeology for future mankind to discover what life was like for a young person living in Haverhill in the 21st century."

Public meeting on rail link revival

RESIDENTS are being invited to share their opinions on improving Haverhill's transport links.

The Cambridge to Colchester Rail Project is holding a public meeting on April 16 at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The Rev Malcolm Hill, chairman, has said the event is a follow up to a rail meeting held in February and a public meeting on the A1307, to be hosted by Matthew Hancock on March 21.

He said: "We are making a pitch to all of the Haverhill town councillors for their support – but it's mainly to bring the people of the town up to date on what is happening."

At the rail meeting held on February 7, it was decided the relevant local authorities would work together on ideas to improve the town's transport.

Restoring the railway, which stopped running in 1967, is only one option, with a variety of improvements to the A1307 also proposed.

Mr Hill added: "Various local authorities will come together for a discussion on road and rail."

The meeting starts at 7pm.

KEEP FIT: The new young class and women's self defence group.

Karate club welcomes new members

A NEW class of youngsters have signed up to karate.

The Haverhill Wado Freestyle Karate club has welcomed some new pupils aged between 6 and 16 to learn the martial art, get fit and improve confidence.

The club has been running self defence courses for women too – with a new one on the cards for next month.

Greg Malyon, who runs the courses and the club, said: "It is great to see how much more confident the ladies get with every time they attend Most ladies start out with no idea of what they would do if a situation did arise, but most go home with the confidence of knowing that they would do something."

The club trains at Chalkstone Community Centre on Mondays and Wednesdays. If you're interested in signing up contact 07811 878328, hwfk@sky.com or visit Haverhill Wado Freestyle Karate on Facebook.

Little Noah's story inspires

DEBRA FOX

ONE little boy's adventures with the Beavers are inspiring people across the UK to get involved.

Noah James, of 1st Haverhill Beavers, has taken YouTube by storm with his video 'I Am Noah' – a look into the 6-year-old's time with his group.

Now, the video is being distributed nationwide by UK Scouting in a bid to get more people to join and volunteer.

Dad Chris, who works at Scouting Headquarters, said: "My son is really enjoying Beavers and has already got the Chief Scout's Bronze Award, and UK Scouting is always looking for great stories being told by young people as it's so much better when it comes from them."

"I'm incredibly proud of Noah as he drew it, wrote it and voiced it all himself, so it's entirely his work, which is also an amazing tribute to the work of the volunteers who put on such an inspiring programme of activities for the children, as scouting is all about that positive experience."

The video, which is being used as an adult recruitment campaign, shows Noah's drawings which tell the audience what he gets up to at Beavers, and why it's fun. At the end, he encourages others to come and join in.

It said: "At Beavers I feel happy, but there are lots of kids waiting to join, boys and girls, so we need your help. It's fun. Thank you."

Chris said that there are 38,000 children on waiting lists nationwide – but more adult helpers are needed before youngsters can be taken on, and new groups formed.

In Haverhill alone, there are around 80 children waiting to join the town's two Scout groups.

For more information, contact Duncan Batty, of 1st Haverhill Scouts, on 01440 707317 or email gsl@1sthaverhillscouts.org.uk.

Tonnes of help for the foodbank

A SUPERMARKET has raised more than four tonnes of food for those in need.

Ann Merrigan, manager of Haverhill Foodbank, visited Waitrose in Saffron Walden to inform staff of their achievement in collecting for the bank.

In the 12 months since January 2013, staff and customers have collected 4.7 tonnes of food for the bank.

Ann said: "On behalf of the clients we support we would like to say a huge thank you to Waitrose and their customers who have generously donated 4.7 tonne of food during the last year.

"We are so very grateful for the support received and are continually amazed at the large amounts of food donated."

A spokesman for Waitrose thanked the "generous" customers for donating on collection days, as well as giving to the store's collection point.

Man hit ex partner in row

A HAVERHILL man nearly broke his former girlfriend's nose after hitting her during a heated argument in a Cambridge bank.

Mark Bishop, of Thurlow Place, Haverhill, pleaded guilty to assault by beating at Cambridge Magistrates' Court on March 7.

The court heard how the pair had ended their 10-year relationship in April 2012 and how Bishop was issued a harassment order not long after.

Sally Rose, prosecuting, said: "In the afternoon of December 19, the defendant turned up at the shop in Cambridge where she worked.

"He wanted to speak to her about problems with the bank account – it had been frozen.

"She felt threatened speaking to him at the shop, so they went to the bank where she felt safer due to the CCTV.

"CCTV from the bank then showed them having an argument.

The defendant hip-barged her. He then put his hand up and hit her on the nose.

"She appeared to be in pain and went to the ground."

The court heard how the blow broke the woman's glasses and that she suffered bruising to her face and may still require surgery to mend a possible fracture.

Representing himself, Bishop said: "I did not realise I hit her in the nose. I thought I just poked her in the forehead.

"I have no sensation in my hands so I didn't know I hit her that hard.

"I suffer from mental health problems and I really needed that money in the account to pay my rent."

Bishop also told the court he was no danger to his ex-partner as he "never wants to see her again".

He was ordered to pay a £200 fine, plus £85 in costs and a £20 victim surcharge. He was also ordered to pay £50 in compensation towards the repair of the victim's glasses.

Daniel's designing clothes for equality

A TEENAGER has launched a clothing brand based around equal rights.

Parity Clothing was created last year by Daniel Bell, 17, to encourage teenagers and young adults to buy products that they love.

The designs are based on "California, and a calm, relaxing life" and are available on a range of T-shirts with different colours.

Daniel, of Bumpstead Road, started the business with himself in mind.

He said: "People liked the designs I made so I pushed it publicly and people started to buy my clothing."

"This made me consider myself even more and realise that everyone is talented in their own way, no matter what age, sex, race, religion, sexuality - everybody has equal rights."

"That's what the brand is all about."

DEBRA FOX

Last summer, Daniel, who is studying media at Cambridge Regional College, took Parity to a range of local events and handed out freebies.

This summer, look out for Daniel and his team who will be giving away free beanies at events across Cambridge.

They also work hard to put together 'back to school packs' for teenagers.

The 17-year-old designs and produces all of the logos himself - but has a bit of help from home with paperwork.

Can you face Mary Shelley's monster?

DON'T worry if you hear screams coming from the town centre next week.

Members of Centre Stage Company are bringing their terrifying performance of Frankenstein 1930 to the Haverhill Arts Centre stage.

The group has taken Mary Shelley's story of scientist and monster and made it their own.

David Hart, director, said: "The story of Frankenstein is so famous that it's more common to see a spoof version nowadays than the real thing, so we thought we'd go back to the old idea of just trying to scare people silly."

"This version follows the 1930 film rather than the original book, as the current West End production does, which is very different."

"The film was based on a play which had toured the world in the 1920s - always with medical staff on hand to attend to members of the audience who fainted with fright."

The play is on from March 20 to March 22 at 7.30pm, with a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

Visit haverhillartscentre.co.uk for tickets, from £7.50 to £9.50, or call 01440 707663.

Brave Ellen is a true fighter

LITTLE Ellen Walker is quite a character. Bouncing around her home, all bright blue eyes and giggles, the 7-year-old wears a permanent cheeky grin as she excitedly tells me all about her upcoming birthday party ("We're going to the Funky Fun House!"), her brand new fluffy pink jumper and how playing at school with her best friends is her favourite thing to do.

Gazing down the camera as she cuddles her adorable 16-month-old brother Arthur, Ellen reveals she's always wanted to be in the newspaper. "She's been very excited," Ellen's mum Emily tells me. "She even let me comb her hair!"

Meeting Ellen today – chatty, vivacious and bursting with energy – it's hard to believe what the little girl sitting in front of me has had to overcome in her short life. "She just takes everything in her stride," Emily smiles. "Her strength and tenacity got her through it all."

Wednesday, February 19, 2014, marked five years since Ellen was first diagnosed with cancer. Since that day she has had multiple surgeries, numerous bouts of chemotherapy and radiotherapy, a stem cell transplant, bone marrow transplant, and much, much more. It would be fair to say it's been a rather eventful Struck down with cancer in 2009, Ellen Walker spent the first few years of her life battling to survive. Five years on and the 7-year-old is proving that when it comes to bravery and determination, age is just a number. Lydia Fallon meets the incredible schoolgirl and her very proud family.

few years for the schoolgirl, but she's kept on smiling regardless. "I'll never forget when she was having this medicine which was making her really ill. She was just sat on the hospital bed, heart beat pumping away and she just had this determined look on her face. Like: 'I'll take this on.' She never gave up," says Emily proudly.

Ellen first became unwell in 2009, aged just 2 years old. Up until then she had been a happy and healthy baby, and there was never any inkling that was about to change. "She was completely fine until she was 2," Emily explains, showing me a picture of Ellen when she was a year old. "She was a really healthy child; she grew normally, went to nursery and was absolutely fine. But, almost overnight, that all changed."

As her second birthday approached, Ellen started to constantly pick up chest infections, she wasn't eating normally and generally didn't seem like the happy little girl she always had been. Emily and her husband Simon were, understandably, extremely worried. "We took her to lots of different doctors with various non-specific things, and eventually she was admitted to hospital," Emily explains. "It was then she was diagnosed with Neuroblastoma."

A rare condition – fewer than 100 children a year are diagnosed with it – Neuroblastoma is a cancer of specialised nerve cells called neural crest cells and mostly affects those under the age of 5. "It's every parent's worst nightmare," says Emily, recalling the moment Ellen was diagnosed. "But you just have to keep the hope and keep the faith that everything will be OK."

What followed was months of gruelling chemotherapy and radiotherapy at Addenbrooke's. Ellen's health was deteriorating rapidly and Emily admits it was just horrible to see their little girl – so small and vulnerable – hooked up to all kinds of bleeping machines, every day fighting to survive. How did they stay strong? "At the times you feel bad for yourself, you just have to think that it is Ellen who is going through it all and it was just our job to be there to support her," says Emily. "We were never told that Ellen's illness was incurable, so the first thing the consultant said when Ellen was diagnosed was that the aim is the cure – so we always tried to focus on that above everything else."

In December, 2009, nearly a year after she was first diagnosed, Ellen was put on a Cancer Research funded clinical trial for antiGD2 – a new and pioneering treatment which doctors hoped would prevent the recurrence of tumours. Ellen was the first child in the UK to have antiGD2, and although the side-effects were at times too hard to bear, it did eventually prove a success.

After months cooped up in a hospital bed, Ellen was finally allowed home for the summer and she flourished. She started pre-school and made lots of new friends, went swimming for the first time in 18 months and even welcomed a new baby brother. Life seemed like it was finally on the up.

But, in early 2011, the Walker family received more heart-breaking news.

ALL SMILES: Ellen Walker, 7, with mum Emily and brother Arthur, 16 months.

"Ellen had lots of episodes of illness which we initially thought were winter bugs, but it turned out she had developed something called secondary AML (Acute Myeloid Leukaemia), which is incredibly rare in children who have had Neuroblastoma, she was only the seventh child in Europe to be diagnosed with it," says Emily.

It was a blow but, Emily says, could have been much, much worse. "The fear was that the Neuroblastoma had returned, because if it had there's no treatment, it's just palliative care from that point. So when we found out it was AML we actually saw it as quite good news, as there was at least hope for a cure. It's funny how your perspective changes."

That cure was a bone marrow transplant, and Ellen's baby brother George turned out to be the perfect match. It was a huge relief, but as the Walker family know from experience, these things are never simple. Ellen was weak and her liver severely damaged, it was touch and go whether she'd even make it to the operation. "Ellen's liver was damaged to such an extent that they didn't know if she'd be fit enough to have the transplant," says Emily. "The doctors were very guarded about it all and there was a stage where they told us they were not prepared to do the transplant, which meant Ellen would have no chance of long-term survival."

A born fighter, Ellen proved the doctors wrong and was eventually well enough to have the transplant at Bristol Children's Hospital. "After the operation she was taken into isolation for three months," remembers Emily. "It was ridiculous in there, you can't take in soft toys and everything has to be laminated – it was really tough.

"Children under 12 weren't allowed in the isolation room so Ellen and George didn't get to see each other for three months. She said thank you to him before the transplant and then he went to live with his grandparents while we stayed in Bristol in a place called Sam's House," Emily says.

Is Ellen very close to her little brother? "Sometimes," Ellen smiles.

"They don't like to admit it," Emily laughs. "But she was very grateful to her little brother and they share a bunk bed and are very close."

"He knows that I had poorly blood and he gave me his blood," Ellen adds. "Sometimes we show each other the white marks on our back from the transplant."

It has been nearly three years since the transplant now and although Ellen is doing amazingly well, the road to recovery has still been a bumpy one, with Ellen facing many setbacks along the way. "Last summer she had some issues with her liver because of previous treatment and it caused her to have bleeds with her oesophagus," explains Emily. "And because she has had so many blood transfusions she has become iron overloaded and has to have blood taken twice a week."

"But the outlook is positive; she is five years out of diagnosis now and the doctors are all very impressed with her progress."

"I was very poorly before Christmas and had to be taken to the hospital in an ambulance," Ellen chuckles. "I was supposed to be in the school play that day and meant to be a snowflake. I turned as white as a sheet and the doctors said I was doing a pretty good impression of a snowflake!"

"All the doctors know you, don't they Ellen?" adds Emily, giving her daughter a little squeeze.

In light of everything they've been through, I wonder if the experience has changed the family's outlook on life? "Completely," she muses. "I have a completely different perspective on life now and realise however bad you think things are, there is always someone worse off. We're the lucky ones because Ellen is still here today."

Emily – who is a doctor herself – believes that wouldn't have been the case if it wasn't for the staff at Addenbrooke's and charities like Cancer Research UK, which is why the Cambridge family have been inspired to share Ellen's story to raise awareness of the amazing work being done every single day. "Children who go through cancer, go through hardship you could never even imagine but with money and research they can survive," Emily says. "It can happen to anyone, and I think the only way cancer is going to be cured is through scientific research. Ellen wouldn't be here talking to you today if it wasn't for Cancer Research UK."

Agency aims to help army wives

DEBRA FOX

A HAVERHILL recruitment agency is providing specific support for army wives.

Just Recruitment, based in Withersfield Road, is preparing to help out an influx of army wives, expected to arrive in Saffron Walden barracks in the coming months.

Manager Victoria Griffiths, an army wife herself, is encouraging the women to get in touch and find out how Just Recruitment can help.

She said: "We have taken quite a few army wives recently and are happy to help anyone who moves in or near to the base.

"It's nice to be able to support them. I know what it's like when you move to a new place and you don't know anyone, or what towns there are - it's great to have someone to help you.

"It's very hard moving around because you don't have a stable CV and people automatically think you're a job-hopper.

"But as soon as clients know you are an army wife they are really understanding and would like to try and help."

Mrs Griffiths moved to the area four and a half years ago. Previously, she was based at Waterbeach barracks and worked in Cambridge.

New first responder team takes to the villages

RURAL parts of Suffolk will benefit from a new team of medical volunteers.

A group of six first responders, assigned to cover Wickhambrook, Ousden, Lidgate, Stradishall and Chedburgh, started work on March 1.

Trained by the East of England Ambulance Service, the group will respond to 999 calls from the area.

Jonathan Needle, Suffolk Community Partnership Manager for EEAST, said: "This is a fantastic new group in a rural area that is hard to reach.

"Everyone has worked really hard to get the group up and running."

Cllr Mary Evans helped the responders raise money for their equipment, and pledged more than £1,000 from her locality budget to the set up of the project.

The area is lucky to have "such committed and caring friends and neighbours" to volunteer for the roles, she added.

Budding film makers to enter 'Oscars'

AN OSCARS-style competition has opened for young film makers in Haverhill.

The Live Well Suffolk Oscars opened last week - and young people aged between 11 to 16 are eligible for entry.

The youngsters are tasked with making a short film of their choice on the tobacco, sugar or technology industries - and focusing on the impact they have on health.

There are 10 awards in total, including best film and best director.

Ali Clements, of Live Well

Suffolk, said: "This year we want to encourage young people to explore the health implications associated with behaviours that are common in their age group."

Last year, 16 films were entered into the competition and the best film gong went to a scout unit in Ixworth for their piece about the dangers of smoking.

Participants must register their entry before April 4, with the final cut needing to be submitted by May 23.

Stay safe during week of checks on motorists

DRIVERS and passengers have been reminded to buckle up this week.

Officers from Suffolk and Norfolk police forces have been carrying out checks since Monday in a bid to raise awareness about seat-belt safety.

Those found not wearing a belt will be issued with £100 fixed penalty notices.

Chief Inspector Chris

Spinks, head of the Roads Policing Unit, said: "We want to remind people that by not wearing your belt, or not ensuring others in the vehicle are, you are putting your own and others' lives at risk."

The checks will continue until Sunday.

Do you want to join the Haverhill Owls?

A WOMEN'S institute is keen to welcome new members into its group.

The Haverhill Owls WI meets on the third Wednesday of every month at the Arts Centre, from 7.30pm.

At the February meeting, members enjoyed a talk on the history and art of quilling - before getting stuck in at having a go for themselves.

Women also learned about a new hospice outreach centre, to be opened by St Nicholas Hospice Care, their chosen charity, in town.

For more information contact secretary Jan Jennings on 01440 762437 or visit thewi.org.uk and search for 'Haverhill Owls' if you're interested.

Samuel Ward Academy

Samuel Ward Academy is one of the highest performing schools in Suffolk and has recently been recognised by the Rt Hon David Laws MP as one of the top 100 performing non-selective state funded schools in England. This is because:

- There is a strong focus in the Academy on understanding each individual pupil and identifying the support that they need to make progress. Where pupils are finding something difficult, the cause is quickly identified and support is put into place. Teaching is tailored to the needs of individuals, ensuring support for those that need it and real stretch for the more able. Our commitment is to ensuring that every individual achieves the highest possible outcomes.

- The Academy believes that pupils thrive best when they are in small groups and have a strong sense of belonging. For that reason, all pupils are part of a House system, tutor groups are no more than 15 in size and Years 7 & 8 have their own purpose designed building in which they can be nurtured and supported. Our comprehensive transition programme also helps pupils to make the leap from primary school into secondary education.
- All pupils are taught leadership skills, leading to accredited awards including work in primary schools and the leadership of learning at Samuel Ward.

- Competitive sports, hobbies and interests form a key part of a pupil's wider learning and, as such, are intentionally developed at Samuel Ward. Years 7, 8 & 9 are involved in nearly 60 activities a week as part of our enrichment programme. Three times a week, they have the opportunity to develop new skills and grow in confidence as a result.
- The Academy has a strong set of moral values that are taught through a small meeting with their Learning Coach every morning. These enable pupils to make sense of the world around them, help to create a sense of community and engender resilience, respect and responsibility.
- We have strong links with European countries and International status, meaning that our pupils have the opportunity to broaden their experiences in preparation for sixth form and university.

Judged 'Outstanding' by Ofsted in 2012, Samuel Ward Academy is supporting other schools through the Samuel Ward Academy Trust and is an accredited Schools Direct provider for teacher training.

Lilypads Day Nursery & Pre-School

HAYLEY Peacock and Dawn Edwards established the Lilypads Day Nursery in Haverhill nearly two years ago. And in that time, the two experienced nursery managers, along with their friendly and reliable team of 12, have seen the nursery go from strength to strength.

Winning a "Best New Start-Up Business" award from the Bury Free Press last year, Hayley puts much of their success down to great word-of-mouth, with satisfied Haverhill parents recommending their services to others. So much so that the nursery is now at 100% capacity, with a total of 85 families on their books.

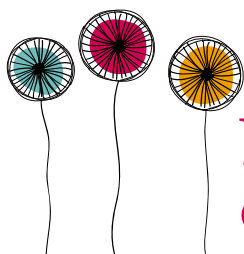

Lilypads' main focus is for babies and pre-school children (along with popular holiday and after-school clubs for older kids), and they pride themselves on offering flexibility in their hours for parents who, these days, often are not able to just work from 9 to 5.

With a great and enriching selection of activities available, the nursery follows the national Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum, and all of the children have access to the wonderful spacious outdoor play area, as well as great facilities inside.

For younger children, free-flow play and sensory activities, language and singing are the order of the day, while for the pre-schoolers, the focus turns to preparation for those important first school days, with a range of number work, name writing, mark making and more.

If this sounds perfect for your child, don't despair! More spaces at the nursery will be coming available in summer as many of their children start school this September. Find out more about Lilypads Day Nursery on their website at lilypadsnursery.co.uk, or their active facebook page, with regular updates of pictures and information, or why not give them a ring on (01440) 767805, or just pop in! Lilypads Day Nursery is at 78 Burton End, Haverhill CB9 9LR.

Blois Meadow Day Nursery Ltd, Unit L, Blois Meadow Business Centre, Steeple Bumpstead, Haverhill CB9 7BN

It has been a busy year for Blois Meadow Day Nursery in Steeple Bumpstead.

Following its outstanding Ofsted report last summer, the nursery has been filling up and places are now very limited on certain days.

The latest addition to the nursery is an outdoor play area specially dedicated to babies. Now that the weather is improving, it's lovely to see the babies in their own secure environment" says Alison Midgley, the nursery's owner/manager, who has just been appointed as an Early Years Pedagogue helping to spread good practice to settings throughout Essex.

"This has been the best nursery so far" says Yn Kok, who recently moved her sons Kyler (1) and Ethan (2½) to Blois Meadow following a job relocation. "Every morning, Ethan says 'I want to go to nursery!'"

Louise Floyd, another mother, agrees. Writing on Blois Meadow's Facebook page, she says "I can't recommend the nursery highly enough. Due to my work, I often have to ring and ask them to have my daughters at a moment's notice and they are always more than accommodating. My daughters love it there and the staff are all so friendly and happy!"

The next open day at Blois

Meadow is on Saturday 22 March between 10 am and 2pm. Prospective parents and children are all welcome to enjoy face painting, refreshments and tours of the nursery.

West Suffolk College Bury St Edmunds

Wsc 1403-0368 Mar14

A recent Apprenticeships Open Event at West Suffolk College attracted a total of 100 visitors, a 25 per cent rise on numbers compared to a similar event last year. It was held in the impressive new Gateway building on the main campus.

The event was an opportunity for staff to share their enthusiasm and passion for Apprenticeships and to showcase learning opportunities through all kinds of courses.

A huge range of full and part-time courses will be starting at the College in September, as well as university level courses through UCS Bury St Edmunds, based on the Bury St Edmunds campus.

The Apprenticeships event included a number of interactive activities in subjects like Hairdressing, Hospitality and Childcare. Engineering and Construction were also represented. Students helped facilitate the activities and spoke about how their experiences at College had helped them.

West Suffolk College has a strong commitment to developing the skills which will help young people gain employment and progress in life, through education or training.

The College is actively promoting STEM (Science, Technology Engineering and Maths) subjects and has invited local schools to a Little Bang STEM event on March 19 and 20 during National Science and Engineering Week 14-23 March 2014.

Castle Manor Academy Embraces The Future Of Learning 13th March 2014

Castle Manor Academy has been working hard to welcome students joining them in September. The Academy, part of the Castle Partnership Academy Trust, already works extensively with local primary schools to provide a wide range of experiences for primary pupils throughout the academic year. The partnership supports All-through Learning, continually working to ensure that children benefit from a seamless transition from Primary to Secondary phase education.

The Academy has organised a range of further events to continue to support pupils at this time. Last week pupils were invited to take part in Easter Academies, focusing on a wide variety of topics including ICT, Catering, Drama, Sport and Media. These sessions have been offered, free of charge, to students in Year 6 that continue their education at Castle Manor from September and also to Year 5 students throughout the town. It is hoped that the sessions will help to further ease the transition process and the feedback has already been promising.

Head of School, Matthew Gibson, is pleased with the take up of the sessions, saying "We think it is vital that our young people feel comfortable and are supported in order to get the very best results. These sessions will provide a fun and challenging experience for our youngsters, which we hope will further prepare them to continue their learning at Castle Manor Academy."

The Academy is also preparing to roll out their Digital Learning Project to the new students. The project sees students issued with their own iPad. This device is then used as a resource throughout the academy. The devices have been issued this year to new Year 7 students and the impact has been felt across the academy.

Year 7 student Amy Halls has been using her iPad this year and is now a Student Digital Leader "The iPad is brilliant. It means I always have access to the right tools at school and at home, I have constant access to my teachers via email and can use a variety of research tools." The Student Digital Leaders are skilled users of the devices that have found innovative ways of using the technology to aid learning. They run their own "Genius Bar" sessions to encourage other students to think about how they use the device. Amy continued "I use my iPad to make videos, create presentations and to assist with research."

Matthew Harris has been leading the curriculum aspects of the project and convened the Student Digital Leaders. He commented, "The project has been really successful so far. Students have led learning and are producing even more creative content each week. Next year new students will benefit from the experience of this cohort and, we think, benefit even more." The Digital Learning Project was instigated in response to national research and feedback, which proves that access to technology empowers students and improves attainment.

Year 6 pupils are also being invited to join other events, including the Sport Relief Haverhill Mile, which the Academy is co-hosting with Haverhill Running Club. Incoming Year 6 students will form a Castle Manor Academy Transition Team and run the 1 mile route on March 23rd.

Castle Manor Academy welcomes enquiries from prospective students and parents. If you would like to tour the academy or find out more information please contact Jason André on jandre@castlepartnership.org.uk or via 07899 806 693.

of opportunity to get out in the fresh air and, when inside, they are cared for in a warm, bright and comfortable environment where their every need has been anticipated.

Learning through play, early literacy, numeracy and developing social skills, become a natural part of everyday life in the Nursery. Singing and counting in both French and English comes easily when learnt at a young age and taught by specialist teachers. Parents, family and friends are often amazed when their little ones perform in the Christmas Production on stage with professional lighting and sound.. It is no wonder that even the shyest child develops confidence and shines.

Older children in the Nursery are taken swimming and, in the September following their third birthday, they move into The Willows where they start wearing a very smart uniform..

If you are looking for the very best for your child, working in close partnership with the staff to develop his or her talents, then you really should consider Barnardiston Hall where bubbly children are in evidence everywhere you look.

In response to requests from parents, Barnardiston Hall recently announced the opening of 'The Lodge' for children aged 6 months to 3 years and 'The Willows' for those aged 3-4 years. It has also expanded its opening times to 51-weeks each year to 7am -7pm, offering parents the opportunity to select the hours they want their child to attend.. With outstanding facilities, it provides opportunities for children which only a Nursery which is attached to a highly-praised school can offer; the Nursery has been graded "Outstanding" in its last three Ofsted inspections.

Leading 21st Century Learning

learning

This year Castle Manor Academy embarked on a bold new programme entitled the Digital Learning Project. This project saw every student that joined the Academy issued with their own iPad, funded by Castle Manor Academy. The scheme has resulted in students using their iPad in all of their lessons and at home to develop their literacy, numeracy and independent learning skills. Early indication is that this project has been a success and will be extended to students joining Year 7 in September 2014.

We are looking forward to seeing this project develop and to finding out just how much 21st Century Learning can help support our students.

GUIDECircus of Horrors

"LIKE The Rocky Horror Show on acid," said Amanda Holden.

The only way to find out how accurate an interpretation that is, is seeing The Circus of Horrors yourself. The Britain's Got Talent finalists are rolling into town, minus a big top, to wow, awe and stun.

Their latest show, London after Midnight (based on a lost film of the same name) is, according to its performers, "a rock 'n' roller coaster of a show that flies like a bat out of hell". Clearly they're over excited...

What sideshows and death-defying stunts should you expect? Well, there will be:

- sword swallowers
 - daredevil balancing acts
 - Herculean women hanging from their hair
 - a demon dwarf strong man
 - a pickled person
 - astounding aerial acts
 - twisted contortionists
 - fire limbo-ing acrobats
 - five murders (for dramatic effect, don't fret)
 - the bubonic plague
 - the Great Fire of London
- No, this isn't your average plate-throwing circus that just clowns around. First formed at Glastonbury in 1995 this troupe of adrenaline junkies are set to make you gasp, whoop and shield your eyes in horror. Let's hope it'll be as spectacular as it sounds, and that nothing goes wrong...

Fairy tale fivesome

THE Overtones are chiselled, smartly stubbled with slicked back hair and twinkly eyes. Basically, they're the kind of boys that have Michael Buble a tad worried and will make your mum go weak at the knees...

Fortunately, they've got voices as impressive as their faces. Made up of Cork-born Timmy Matley, Mancunian Mark Franks and Aussie Lachie Chapman (the mid-harmony singers), Bristol bass Mike Crawshaw and falsetto Essex boy Daz Everest, the vocal harmony five-piece were discovered in quite a magical way.

They were all just having a bit of a sing-along on their tea break while working as decorators near Oxford Street in 2010. Next thing they know, they're being chatted up by a Warner Bros talent scout, are donning suits and ties, and seeing their debut album, Good 'Ol Fashioned Love, waltzing into Number 4 in the charts. Then they went and performed at the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. Oh, it could be a fairy tale.

The group cover vintage classics and are currently touring with their third album, Saturday Night at the Movies, stopping off at Cambridge Corn Exchange.

On the night they'll be re-mastering Oh, Pretty Woman, sweeping through Blues Brothers' classic Shake A Tail Feather, and whipping up Do You Love Me. Plus, they'll be joined by MOBO-award winning Beverley Knight on Hit The Road Jack (hopefully they'll let her out to do a bit more than just that though).

You'll be singing, dancing and swooning along. Just don't go fainting on them, they're not the grown-up One Direction you know.

■ The Overtones, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Monday, March 17 at 7.30pm. Tickets £28.50 - £38.50 (01223) 357851 / cornex.co.uk

■ ELVIS: THE MOVIES EXPERIENCE, a new stage show starring The Winner of the UK 'National Tribute Awards' Mark Summers, takes place on tonight at 7.30pm. From stage, radio and TV Mark has toured worldwide as Elvis; working with members of Elvis' original band, close friends and members of the Memphis Mafia and some of the Presley family!

■ As there are only a few tickets left for WAR HORSE tomorrow, we have added another performance on Wednesday 2 April at 7pm. This magnificent broadcast stage production is not to be missed!

■ JOHN RENBOURN AND WIZZ JONES, two of the giants of the British folk-blues golden era, join forces on Saturday at 8pm. Founder member of the legendary Pentangle, John Renbourn is a virtuoso guitarist playing a fusion of ragtime, jazz, country, blues, classical, mid-European and pre-Renaissance music. Wizz Jones has been playing his own brand of folk-blues since the late 50s and still can be relied upon to put on a fine show of old and new tunes

■ Centre Stage return to the Arts Centre with one of the classics of Gothic horror FRANKENSTEIN 1930 from Thursday 20 to Saturday 22 March at 7.30pm with a matinee on Saturday at 2.30pm. It is based on a play which terrified audiences for years before finally being captured on film starring the immortal Boris Karloff. All the eagerly anticipated elements are here: the stone-walled laboratory, the crazed scientist, angry villagers, a swooning heroine, a fearful storm and the hideous but pathetic creature. Medical assistance used to be on hand during performances for audience members who fainted with fright, so it's definitely not for the timid ...!

■ Events to watch out for include lead singer of the Hollies and long-time singer/guitarist with Cliff Richard PETER HOWARTH - UNPLUGGED on Friday 28 March at 7.30pm; a Bolshoi Ballet broadcast of MARCO SPADA, a notorious bandit, on Sunday 30 March at 4pm and Eastern Angles return with PALM WINE & STOUT, a moving and magical story full of family secrets on Thursday 3 April at 8pm.

NEED FOR SPEED
certificate 12A, 2h10m

INSPIRED by a series of video games in which players get behind the wheel of souped-up motors, Need For Speed accelerates smoothly into the slipstream of The Fast And The Furious and its high-octane pretenders.

Director Scott Waugh puts the pedal to the metal from the turbo-charged opening which establishes a rivalry between the cash-strapped protagonist (Aaron Paul) and his cocksure rival (Dominic Cooper) that drives the narrative to its predictably tragic resolution.

The story centres on car mechanic Tobey Marshall (Paul), who runs his father's garage but is struggling to make ends meet so he relies on prize money from illegal street races.

Aided by his team comprising Benny (Kid Cudi), Joe (Ramon Rodriguez), Finn (Rami Malek) and Little Pete (Harrison Gilbertson), Tobey is king of the road until a race against Dino Brewster (Cooper) ends in an inferno.

Tobey is arrested and sentenced to time behind bars for a crime he did not commit while Dino walks away untarnished by suspicion.

Two years later Tobey is released and swears revenge against Dino by competing against his nemesis in a legendary race organised by the enigmatic Monarch (Michael Keaton).

He borrows a turbo-charged vehicle and agrees to take car dealer Julia Maddon (Imogen Poots) in the passenger seat as insurance. Sparks of sexual attraction fly between Tobey and Julia, complicating his relationship with old flame Anita (Dakota Johnson).

Need For Speed is neither as delightfully fast nor furious as the films it hopes to emulate.

Director Waugh choreographs some slick set pieces including pursuits around city streets and a daredevil airborne escape but there are few surprises in George Gatins's simplistic and linear script.

Paul attempts to jumpstart his big screen career off the back of the TV series Breaking Bad and he is extremely likable in a woefully malnourished role. His deep, growling voice cuts through the squealing brakes and crashes of passing motorists, who are in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Cooper is far less impressive as the slippery antagonist, whose greedy, recklessness and overinflated ego bring about his downfall. He is insipid and not remotely menacing.

British rising star Imogen Poots continues her ascent with a spirited and eye-catching supporting performance as a ballsy car broker, who proves she's much more than a pretty face.

Take care of your lawn

IF THE recent rain means your luscious, closely-cropped carpet of green is now nothing but a soggy bog, you might be feeling a bit downhearted.

But don't despair, say the experts, there is still hope for your languishing lawn.

Guy Jenkins, Johnsons lawn seed expert, firstly advises to just give it time.

"Don't rush to work on your lawn as soon as the water has subsided," he says. "Treading on wet, saturated soil will easily result in compaction, reducing your lawn's aeration and drainage even further. Only sow seed after the ground has become workable again."

Sometimes though, the only real option is to start again; if your lawn suffers from consistent waterlogging, or is covered in moss or has bare, muddy patches. Jenkins says sorting out a proper drainage system and sowing trusted grass seed will save you time and money later. On a poorly drained site where water lies on the surface at times, land drains are the only solution. If in doubt, seek professional advice.

When water simply won't drain away, the RHS advises that you may have to replace the lawn with a new one, using turf laid on a 5cm (2in) bed of sharp sand, overlaid with topsoil improved by generous manuring and thorough cultivation.

Smaller lawns on heavy clay soil can frequently be drained by raising them slightly above the adjoining ground level. A gravel edging to the lawn will carry away excess moisture.

When a lawn lies wet for any length of time, damp conditions encourage algae, lichens and liverworts. This includes bubble-like Nostoc algae and dog lichen. They both flourish in badly-drained lawns but can develop wherever the aeration is poor and may even appear on well-drained turf if the surface has become compacted and is inclined to remain damp after rain.

Algae also thrives in shaded conditions and where soil fertility is poor, so it's frequently found on turf beneath trees. Moss is a common sight where conditions are damp, but particularly if there is shade and an acid soil.

by Hannah Stephenson

Pricking or slitting the surface can improve a waterlogged lawn, the RHS adds. Try making 2-3cm (1in) slits or holes, although deeper[er] spiking is better, especially with a tool designed to leave holes 10-15cm (4-6in) deep. These holes can be filled with a free-draining material, such as proprietary lawn top dressings or horticultural sand, which will allow the water to flow from the surface to deeper, less compacted layers.

Hand spiking tools are available but an ordinary garden fork can be used too. Alternatively, for larger lawns, use powered tools. Try a hollow tiner, which has hollow spikes and removes plugs of soil that are then swept up and removed. Pricking and slitting are best carried out once the excess water has drained away, especially where machinery is to be used. In small areas where standing water persists, sweep it off the lawn and into the beds before spiking with a hand spiking tool or garden fork.

Once you've cleared the latest mess, it is also important to consider the root of the problem and hopefully prevent it happening again. For example, do you live in an urban area, at the bottom of a valley or flood plain, or on top of heavy clay?

"All of these factors can affect how your lawn copes with excess rainfall," says Jenkins. "In urban areas, water flows over pavements and patios, with the extra surface run-off resulting in flooding. Simply by keeping a well-maintained lawn, providing somewhere for water to drain away, we can all do our bit to prevent flood damage."

If you plan to sow a new lawn this spring, raking soil over to form a fairly fine tilth should ensure optimum germination rates, but only do it when the soil is dry enough to work.

Heavy rain washes nutrients out of the soil, so to help encourage new grass, apply a lawn fertiliser or buy grass seed which includes fertiliser or dressing, so that it can grow more extensive root systems better able to withstand drought and flooding.

Morris Armitage relocates

AFTER four successful years at Station Road in Haverhill, a decision was taken by husband and wife team Beckie and Chris Jai-Bahadur to move to a more central location, when the right property became available. Chris was impressed with the former location of the Haverhill Weekly News, and when it became available he moved quickly to secure the property. The shop was refurbished within a month of terms being agreed, and Morris Armitage is delighted with the comments and positive feedback from their existing and potential clients who have been in to visit the new shop. Morris Armitage offers property sales, lettings and property management. A dedicated in-house mortgage broker will be in place courtesy of Bright Financial

Rovers are back with big victory

HAVERHILL Rovers under-14s were in fine form to record a 6-0 victory over Newmarket Town in Cambridge & District Colts League 14D.

Brandon McKay got two goals for Rovers inside the first 20 minutes and Aaron Wiseman added a third before half time.

Wiseman got his second after the restart and this was added to with goals from Callum Cooley and David Scott as Haverhill secured a comfortable win in their first home game for several months.

Two strikes from Ethan Murphy earned West Watting a 2-1 victory over Witchford in 14A.

The first of Murphy's goals came when Daniel Cordwell sent a long throw-in from Ronnie Ledwith across the box for him to smash home.

Then George Jenkinson played Murphy in with a through-ball to score, but Witchford got one back.

Ollie Upham's hat-trick put Aztecs under-13s on course for a 5-1 triumph over Gamlingay in 9v9 City.

And Harry Bear and Toby Peters got one apiece to complete the scoring.

Josh Lee earned West Watting a share of the spoils in a 1-1 draw with Isleham United White in BM Kempton 9v9 Youth League 12A.

On the ball: Billy Harvey in action for Haverhill Rovers under-14s.

Haverhill hit back against hosts Bury HAVERHILL under-13s showed great character to come from 7-0 down and ease to a convincing 33-7 win at Bury St Edmunds.

Haverhill made the trip on the back of some encouraging results but Bury were out to avenge a defeat to Haverhill from earlier in the season.

The hosts pressed from the kick-off and after a dubious penalty decision, the tap and go resulted in a prop crashing over the whitewash from 10 metres and the try was duly converted.

The visitors responded in the best possible way with Adam Kz scoring between the posts after good work by Ollie Cooper.

The conversion was successful and with the scores level, Haverhill stepped up a gear and the centre pairing of Mitchell Morgan and Arty Pickton caused havoc in midfield, allowing further tries from Josh Gilligan, Pickton and Joe Milner.

With multiple changes at half time, Bury strengthened their side and came out for the second half in determined mood.

But Haverhill grew in stature as the game went on and closed it out in style, with great work by Stanley Short, Cameron Forsyth, Joe Milner and Billy Notley.

Further tries were added by Kz and Milner to cement a convincing and deserved win.

Score: Chris Flannery about to release Kieran Ewens (Head band) for Haverhill's only try.

HAVERHILL failed to recover from going behind early on as they suffered a 50-5 defeat at home to Thetford in Greene King IPA Eastern Counties Two.

Thetford took the lead with an unconverted try in the first minute and were 12-0 up after seven minutes thanks to a converted score.

Haverhill came back on 13 minutes

League leaders chalk up 50 against Haverhill and a nice scrum and pick up by Chris Flannery was superbly laid off to Kieran Ewens, who proceeded to run 45 metres, through a series of tackles, and under the posts.

However, the conversion was missed and from then on it was all Thetford.

The league leaders secured the bonus point for scoring four tries before the interval, and were 31-5 up at the break.

Haverhill lost Adam Stephenson to concussion, but although the visitors went further ahead two minutes into the second half, they struggled to break down the home side again until the final 10 minutes.

Then, two more converted tries took Thetford to the half-century mark.

Weaver sews up a victory for Borough at Team Bury RYAN Weaver's goal was enough to earn Haverhill Borough a 1-0 win at Team Bury in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division on Tuesday night.

Weaver finished off a good team move for his goal, but Borough had several other good chances to put the game to bed.

They included an effort from Callum Harrison which struck the bar.

"I think we deserved the win because we bossed the game for 75 minutes," said Borough boss Ben Cowling.

"We hit the woodwork three times and we should have killed the game off.

"We nearly threw it away at the end and they hit the post themselves.

"But that's our second clean sheet on the bounce and we don't keep too many of them, so I'm very pleased."

The win follows a 0-0 draw away to high-fliers Fakenham Town last Saturday, which was the first time the hosts had failed to score at home all season.

Borough are on course to achieve their aim of a top-six finish and have not yet given up on breaking into the top three.

"We know what we have to do," said manager Cowling.

"We haven't got to play any of the other sides in the top eight, they've all got to play each other and they're going to take points off each other."

In the Premier Division, Haverhill Rovers boss Dean Greygoose was pleased to have Dan Cornwell available again for their game with Norwich United.

Cornwell and Andrew Oforu both got on the scoresheet, but it was the visitors who ran out 4-2 victors.

"He's (Cornwell) only done two training sessions, but he's played 90 minutes," said Greygoose.

"He's got a great attitude and dedication."

Scorer: Ryan Weaver was on target for Haverhill Borough.
